7 The resolution gives only a partial remedy As far as I could make out the meaning of the com-plaint it was that changes of books too often (not within the year) was a drain on the purse of poor people who would otherwise use books purchased for one year's pupils for other pupils succeeding to the same standard The Inspector General may be asked whether anything cannot be done to keep the books on in each class for 3 or 5 years as suggested This would not preclude a change being made if any exceptionally good book has to be introduced to replace another on any subject

Summary of discussion—(a) The frequent change of text books in schools has been causing much inconvenience to the poorer classes of pupils and to a regular course of instruction in schools not to speak of the inconvenience caused by an inadequate supply of books from the Central Book Depot Orders may be passed that text books once prescribed should be in force for a prescribed period

(b) recognition of alternative text books for use in one and the same class cause much inconvenience to the pupils of lower classes who are obliged to leave one school and join another as they find themselves unable to follow the course of instruction given in the text books in use in the new schools The Text Book Committee may be advised to prescribe common text books for use in all schools in the State and change them if necessry once in five years

Messrs C Srinivasa Rao and M Venkatakrishniah supported the representation urging that the same text books should be ordered to be kept in use for a period of five or at least three years

SIR

With reference to our letter No 8335/Edn 447-12-5 dated the 7th March 1914 regarding the use of the same Text Books in schools for a certain number of years and subsequent reminders thereon I have the honour to state that the question was referred to the Text Book Committee and discussed at a meeting held on the 5th December 1914 when the following resolution was passed -

> Proposed by Mr E V Thompson that the resolution No V of the Eighteenth Annual Meeting of the Text Book Committee held on 12th November 1910 be adhered to with the assurance that as a rule no changes will be made in the books prescribed from year to year unless new books which are superior in the opinion of the Text Book Committee are forthcoming This was seconded by ... Mahomed Beig and carried unanimously

In this connection I invite your kind attention to my letter No 9139/467 dated the 23rd January 1914 quoting the resolution No V passed on 12th November 1910

I concur with the views of the Text Book Committee on the subject and I can give a general assurance that there will be no unnecessary changes made in the approved list of Text Books
